Amounts that may be paid by third party collaborators, for example upfronts, milestones and/or royalty payments from territorial commercialization partners, are also subject to a 50/50 split. Following commercial approval of ABP-102, we have agreed to reimburse Celltrion 250% of its direct and certain indirect costs and expenses incurred through first commercial sale. Celltrion is entitled to offset amounts otherwise due to us under the agreement until our share of these costs has been paid back; provided that we are entitled to a minimum 25% of profit from commercial sales and from third party collaborators regardless of the amount of unreimbursed development costs outstanding (and then 50% once the reimbursement has been made in full). In addition, we are entitled to up to over $1.75 billion in development and sales milestones. Addressing Unmet Needs in HER2+ Cancers Treatment: ABP-102 Competitive Landscape

$12.1 billion

Projected global HER2+ market size by 2030¹

Development Fully Funded

By collaboration partner Celltrion

Potential Competitive Advantages:

- Current HER2-directed therapies have demonstrated increased chemical off target toxicity (e.g. TKIs and ADCs) and/or reduced efficacy from drug resistance or limited potency requiring combination with chemotherapy (i.e.: mAbs), especially in the relapsed and refractory disease population
- ABP-102 was designed to overcome these challenges as a single-agent therapy that potently engages the patient's natural immune system without toxic chemicals to directly target and destroy the tumor

Potential benefits of ABP-102 in immunology

- Activating T cells to kill tumor cells
TetraBi antibody targets HER2 on tumor cells and CD3 on T cells
- Reduce activity on -low or negative HER2 cells for safety
selectively targets HER2-high and intermediate expressing cells
- May improve clinical efficacy
by inducing T cell infiltration into HER2+ tumors, potentially targeting various solid tumors with HER2 overexpression.
- Enhances binding, selectivity for tumor cells, potency, and therapeutic index
with Dual HER2 binding sites

Global Wet AMD market size projection in 2024¹

Potential Competitive Advantages:

- Unlike Eylea and Lucentis, ABP-201 seeks to inhibit both VEGF and ANG-2
- Unlike Vabysmo, ABP-201 has two binding sites for VEGF and ANG-2, designed to more effectively trap each ligand
- ABP-201 has a longer half-life in the eye than Eylea, which contributes to pharmacological durability

- We believe that ABP-201 will require less frequent dosing, providing a significant advantage in the commercial setting.
- We anticipate that ABP-201 will not suffer from drug resistance to the same extent as drugs that target VEGF alone, as increased signaling by ANG-2 in response to anti-VEGF therapy is one of the primary mechanisms of resistance to VEGF inhibitors.

METHODS SUMMARY

Induction of murine A A amyloidosis using a myloid enhancing factor and repeated casein injections, estimation of amyloid load in vivo and in vitro, and quantification of human SAP in serum and tissue extracts, were conducted as previously reported^{4,5,6}. Sheep and mouse anti-human-SAP antibodies were raised by immunization with isolated pure human SAP^{2,6} and mouse anti-human-SAP hybridomas were cloned by standard methods; Abp1 was produced by AbPro.

HER2/CD3 T-Cell Engager

Cell line expression of Her2 with trastuzumab biosimilar

Trastuzumab binding by flow cytometry results in a range of HER2 expressing cancer cell lines.¹

² (right panel) Abpro internal data; cytotoxicity of cell lines using PBMCs (10:1 E:T ratio) after 42 hours, readout by CellTiterGlo2.0 reagent (Promega).

HER2 expression level

High

Low

ABP-102 candidate molecules exhibit preferential killing of HER2-high (SKBR3, BT-474, NCI-N87) and HER2-intermediate (SKOV-3, HCC1954, MDA-MB-453) cell lines, with reduced cytotoxic activity on HER2-low cell lines (ZR-75-1, HT55, MCF-7, JIMT-1).²

Conclusion: ABP-102 candidate bispecific antibodies have potent cytotoxicity at similar levels as the parental non-affinity-tuned bispecific antibody on HER2-high and HER2-intermediate cell lines. On HER2-low cell lines, ABP102 candidates have reduced cytotoxicity, and exhibit more selectivity than the parental bispecific antibody, reducing the potential for “on-target, off-tumor” toxicity.

ABP-102: engineered TetraBi antibodies exhibit functional selectivity for T cell activation, including reduced cytokine release for HER2-low expressing cell lines

ABP-102-mediated PBMC cytotoxicity of HER2-high (SKBR3) and HER2-low (MCF-7) cell lines.¹

ABP-102-mediated cytokine release (IL-2, IFNg, IL-6, TNFa) in supernatants with HER2-high target cells (SKBR3) is modestly reduced, while for HER2-low (MCF-7) target cell lines, greater reductions in cytokine release are observed.²

Conclusion: ABP-102 engineered dual-arm affinity reduction strategy resulted in candidates with reduced cytokine release compared to the parental molecule, reducing the potential for “on-target, off-tumor” toxicity.
